Qualifications

Please describe your relevant analytical skills.

Geography degree with emphasis on urban planning and resource management.

Environmental consulting projects entail demographics/statistical analysis for determining environmental impacts.

Project manager of diverse projects including audits of wastewater treatment plants and industrial facilities, environmental assessments, design and construction of water and wastewater infrastructure.

Familiarity with COA ordinances related to site development, stormwater management, environmental protection.

Conducted land use studies, traffic impact analyses, and road design for projects in Austin. Conducted neighborhood meetings to present land development plans and solicit input.

Manager of diverse teams of analysts in different disciplines - engineers, chemists, policy analysts, biologists, geologists, cartographers/GIS specialists, statisticians.

Experienced researcher and technical writer, strong organizational skills.

Please describe your ability to be impartial.

I am by nature very open-minded and empathetic.

I always look for, and am interested in, others' ideas/views.

As a consultant I study all angles of a problem and present several solutions to my clients.

As an environmental compliance auditor it is my job to gather and present facts.

As a facilitator of strategic planning sessions I must solicit and consider all input.

I am a trained facilitator and was a key player in starting a neighborhood "conversation" and convened several well-attended meetings to discuss issues confronting the neighborhood.

I was selected to moderate a neighborhood debate for neighborhood candidates. Was asked to participate in framing the questions because "Lynn is fair."

I feel that it is important to get everyone to the table - everyone should have a voice. Everyone matters.

Please describe your appreciation for the City of Austin's diverse demographics and geography.

I love that Austin is a Creative City. It's natural beauty and kind people caused me to move here in the first place.

Tolerance, inclusiveness and creativity constitute the Austin "vibe." I want to contribute toward maintaining Austin's personality as it grows.

As an environmental scientist I understand the importance of diversity - biodiversity is crucial in nature and diversity in demographics increases quality of life for everyone.

Austin citizens value its beautiful natural environment and know that maintaining it adds to quality of life - I promote that and believe we can and must continue to protect our resources as we grow.

I believe in environmental justice and have worked on projects that addressed equities in locating public facilities such as landfills, utility easements, and stormwater management systems.

As I had hoped, my involvement with Leadership Austin has expanded my contacts, and I have become involved with a variety of organizations outside the environmental community (for example, Care Communities, Court Appointed Special Advocates, Truth Be Told, National Forum for Black Public Administrators Central Texas, AIDS Services of Austin).

Please provide any other information you wish to be considered during the selection of the most qualified applicants for the Commission.

My motives for serving on the commission are clear - I have no hidden political agenda.

I am a fair person and a good listener.

I want this process to promote diversity and fair representation and to increase voter turnout.

I don't want this process to create divisiveness. We need to ensure that our outcome promotes better voter representation, while maintaining our sense of community.
